

Welcome to MTC

Have You Heard of Us?

The Metropolitan Transportation Commission (MTC) may not be as well known to you as your local transit agency, but what we do touches your life each time you leave home to travel around the nine-county San Francisco Bay Area. Our job is to make sure the regional transportation network functions smoothly and efficiently, and to plan responsibly to meet the future mobility needs of our growing population.

The purpose of this book is to introduce our agency to you, and to provide you with an inside look at how transportation policies take shape and regional decisions are made. Even more important, we show how you can take part in this process.

Have We Heard From You?

As a public agency that helps to fund transportation projects in the region, MTC invites and encourages public participation. We want to know what you think. We want you to share with us your ideas for improving Bay Area transportation, and we want to know what steps you think we should take to make this happen.

Help us keep the Bay Area moving.

With many needs and limited funding, transportation programs and projects rely on public input and the support that comes through an open, inclusive process. We urge you to become part of that process and to make your views known.

This guide can't tell you all that MTC does, but it opens the door and invites you to become better acquainted with our projects and programs. Please join us as we strive to accomplish our mission: to keep the Bay Area moving. ■
